

June 23, 2010

<http://newyorkfamily.com/newyork/article-427-the-ashley.html>

The Ashley

Exceptional City Living With Space To Breathe

By Michelle Levine

The Ashley makes it possible to have the best of both worlds—city living with space to breathe and rental apartments that feel like home. “The layouts are quite unique and the size of the residences are exceptional,” says Clifford Finn, Managing Director of New Developments, Citi-Habitats. “Each space has fantastic light and presents a connection to one of the parks that surround the building.” The 209-unit building has larger-than-usual apartments, from studios to three-bedroom units up to 1,900 square feet. Superior interior apartment finishes include solid wood flooring and doors, Bosch washers and dryers, stainless steel kitchen appliances, CaesarStone quartz countertops with copper mosaic tile backsplashes and bathrooms with imported porcelain tile walls and floors and Kohler fixtures.

The Ashley sits atop an amenity base that is “not to be rivaled,” says Finn. A 40,000 square-foot LA PALESTRA Athletic Club and Spa features a 75-foot indoor pool (“one of only a handful of junior Olympic pools in the entire city,” Finn points out), a two-lane bowling alley, a double-height/ two-level rock climbing wall, basketball and squash courts, yoga and Pilates studios, spa treatment rooms and much more.

Concierge service by Abigail Michaels is included, and renters receive complimentary move-in service to coordinate relocation, telephone and cable service and more. This kind of convenience is representative of life at The Ashley. The neighborhood has attracted lots of families, and The Ashley captures the perfect blend of access to public space with plenty of privacy. The Ashley also features an exquisitely-landscaped private courtyard available to residents. Across the street from a children’s park and featuring an indoor playroom by Kidville, the building is child-friendly. Just a block-and-a-half from Lincoln Center, yet set amidst so many parks and green spaces, The Ashley truly lets residents have it all.