The Billionaires Next Door

These days the real power players live in 10-figure terms. Here's a breakdown of New York City's top 12 billionaires and what they do with their cash.

| By Maxine Milo |

11 Lawrence Stroll

Age: 53

Business: Co-chair, Sportswear Holdings Ltd.

Alma mater: Unknown

Family life: Married; two children

Net worth: $1.8 billion

Real estate: Bought a full-floor, $50 million apartment at One57 (scene of the Hurricane Sandy broken-crane incident), set to be completed next year

Made headlines for: Becoming a billionaire when he and partner Silas Chou took fashion label Michael Kors public last year

Tabloid fodder: Flashy Canadian fashion mogul Stroll—also a Ferrari fanatic—let his young son, Lance, drive in a program designed to groom drivers for Formula One racing. At age 11, Lance became the youngest person signed to an F1 team, and at 13 was speeding through Italy in a Ferrari as part of his “grooming.”
